LEARNING MANAGEMENT SYSTEM (LMS)

Learning Management System (LMS)

The Yale New Haven Health System Center for Emergency Preparedness and Disaster Response (YNHHS-CEPDR) Learning Management System (LMS) is a robust learning platform for agencies to host, track and manage training courses. It is a go-to learning platform for organizations and their staff to meet their educational needs.

Facilities and agencies can make coursework available on the YNHHS-CEPDR LMS for users to complete through a direct URL or receive courses in a SCORM-compliant manner for hosting on their own LMS. Compliance officers can use the YNHHS-CEPDR LMS functions to track training regulatory requirements. YNHHS-CEPDR may also help you seek Continuing Medical Education (CME) credits from the Yale School of Medicine (YSM) for courses that meet YSM CME standards.

Use YNHHS-CEPDR to develop education and training solutions for distance learning

The YNHHS-CEPDR education team has the talent and experience necessary to provide distance learning solutions to meet your organization's particular needs. The team has expertise in course hosting through our LMS and other online vehicles, as well as providing instructional design, multimedia, graphic/web design, video production, communication, project management and access to a vast array of subject matter experts.

Learn how YNHHS-CEPDR can partner with your organization on distance learning solutions. To receive a risk-free trial of our educational products, please contact us at (203) 688-5000 or e-mail center@ynhh.org.
