

Emergency Preparedness for Healthcare with NIMS (EM 108)

THE NEED

Hospitals and many healthcare organizations are now required to implement the National Incident Management System (NIMS) education and training for appropriate personnel. The Yale New Haven Health System Center for Emergency Preparedness and Disaster Response has developed Emergency Preparedness for Healthcare with NIMS (EM 108) as an equivalent IS 700 (An Introduction to the National Incident Management System) NIMS course. This course is time-efficient and relevant to public health, hospital and health care workers. EM 108 provides information and action steps all employees can take to ensure a work environment prepared for disasters.

TARGET AUDIENCE

- ▼ Recommended for all public health, hospital and healthcare employees
- ▼ Awareness-level

MODALITY

- ▼ Online

EM 108 TOPICS INCLUDE:

- ▼ Recognize the types of emergencies and disasters that can impact healthcare facilities
- ▼ Recognize the benefits of the National Incident Management System (NIMS)
- ▼ Understand the components of the Incident Command System (ICS)
- ▼ Prepare health care and public health employees for their roles and responsibilities
- ▼ Discuss steps for personal and family preparedness

The Yale New Haven Health System Center for Emergency Preparedness and Disaster Response can assist your organization in preparedness planning and response.
